I am writing to express my interest to be part of this job. And I will be happy to help you.

I am a software engineer in Ecommerce and medical software with solid experience for more than 2 years. I have been working on PSD mockup files using HTML for 2 years now and have been converting files exactly like the above. During that time, I've developed more than 4 website.

After reviewing your project description, it's clear that looks like you are looking to someone to be able to take PSD mockup files from your designer and convert them into custom code using HTML. I have one nanodegree from Udacity in web develpoment Using HTML and Java language.

Also, I suggest you if we can use matrix chart to just add and organise the constructor.

As I mentioned previously with my experience in this field for more than 2 years, I'm certain I'll be a great fit to this role, as you saw from my profile, and I have developed strong skills in my previous role and I have a good review in my profile form other clientes for projects like yours. So, I will offer to you a good quality with good price.

Working on your project will take less than 3months of working and less than 25 hours per week, which is within the time frame mentioned in your description.

Let me know if you like to chat.
